ures at the close of the day on the re ceipts and expenditures of the fair and on the exact attendance; but enough was known to make it certain that al other records were distanced and that the association would have a neat balance in money after all premiums and expenses were paid.

The attendance during the day and night was given as 10,500 by Secretary Bateman. There was a thinning out in the crowds from 5:30 to 7 p. m., but from that time until 10 o'clock many huncreds came to take their places. Ail he cars going to the grounds were baded to their utmost capacity, while it was easy to get a seat in the cars coming from the grounds.

There was a good card of races in the afternoon, and they were witnessed by crowds that filled the grand stand and strung themselves along the fence nearly around the track. Two state pairing it, contrary to the conditions records were broken. One was the of the race. Utah record for a single mile over a half-mile track, and the other was the record for three heats over any kind of track.

The judges in all departments com pleted their work, and Treasurer C. W. Buckholz and his assistants were kept busy during the day and until late in the evening handing out the cash to the prize winners. At the beginning of the fair Secretary W. J. Bateman and other fair officials were of the start. The car was traveling at a feer the start. The car was traveling at a feer the start, the car was traveling at a feer the start. and other fair officials were of the work that had been done by judges in account that the fair of 1904 was much and that there were many more entries !

Statement of President McDonald. Before leaving the grounds for his home at the close of the fair last night President J. G. McDonald said:

The success of the fair, of course depended largely on the weather, and nothing could have been better than the weather we had all week. In adpress for the generous and enthusiastic support given us. The merchants of city who closed their stores and gave the fair a good start on the first lay are entitled to credit. This is also true of Governor Wells and Mayor Morris, who called upon the people to support the fair. The exhibitors, many of whom went to great trouble with-out the hope of adequate reward, are entitled to the thanks of all who wish well to the state fair. I also feel like thanking the police, who maintained excellent order, and the assistants, who worked early and late to bring success

"Of course I realize, as everybody else does, that the races and the high grade of the free attractions consti tuted the chief factor in drawing the people. This fact will not be overooked in arranging for the next fair. We will give a better fair in every way next year than we gave this week. We purpose to do this by giving clean sensational free attractions, good races and more and better exhibits of the industries and products of the state. We intend to have a good exhibit fron
